Phone Service In Portsmouth Ordered Ended

Ohio Consolidated Chief Blames Violence For Closure of Office

PORTSMOUTH (AP) — This Ohio River city of about 40,000 people was without telephone service today. All calls going in and out of the city, as well as local calls, were suspended after incidents of violence in a two-month-long phone strike.

Police Chief Hugh Rudity declared an emergency. He ordered all police personnel and auxiliaries to report for duty.

A local "hot rod" club organized its members to act as couriers for hospitals in the area.

Telegrams were the only means by which residents of this southern Ohio community could communicate with friends or relatives outside the city.

In Columbus, Gov. Frank J. Lausche directed Robert L. Moulton, chairman of the State Utilities Commission, and Col. George Mingle, highway patrol superintendent, to make an on-the-spot investigation of the situation. City Council expected to meet with the state officials during the day.

The struck Ohio Consolidated Telephone Co. closed its exchange in Portsmouth and in Sciotoville, a small village near here, Tuesday night. Company President C. E. Williams said the action was taken after an attack earlier Tuesday on five supervisors who were repairing cables in the Sciotoville area.

Williams said the five employees needed hospital treatment after a group of 25 men attacked them with clubs.

Meanwhile, the Portsmouth CIO Council reaffirmed its "moral and financial support of the strike." Emerson T. Pence, council secretary, said Tuesday he has been informed that the company has "imported strikebreakers from as far away as Texas."

Smaller manual exchanges in parts of the 24-county southern Ohio area served by the company have been closed for brief periods during the 67-day-old strike. But this was the first time a major automatic dial exchange has been shut down, Williams said.

The strike by approximately 600 operators and service personnel began when representatives of the company and Communication Workers of America were unable to reach agreement on a new contract to replace the old one-year contract.

The company has insisted on a no-strike clause. The CWA has demanded a union shop and retention under its jurisdiction of certain jobs the company wants transferred to managerial status.

In a union shop, all employees are required to join the union shop after a specified time.

These are the principal issues blocking a settlement.

Just about everytime excavating is done on property in the business part of the city, some reminder of the past is uncovered.

For instance when the Ashland Community Service Station on W. Court St., started digging a big hole 13 feet deep, back of the station to place a 15,000 gallon tank deep in the ground, two interesting things came to light.

The bulldozer struck a section of stone wall on the west side of the excavation, and an old well, with a wooden curb, on the east side of the excavation.

The stone wall, which extended into the earth some eight feet or more was part of the foundation of the old Cissna elevator which formerly stood on the site, and which was so badly damaged by fire back in the 1920s that it was later demolished.

It was one of the oldest grain elevators in the city and for many years was operated by S. W. Cissna.

Apparently the old well was one of the first in the city, and had a wooden curb. In all probability the depth, as that depth would have provided water from the level of the creek 250 feet to the west.

Boy Being Checked On Murder Story

BATAVIA (AP) — Clermont County officials Tuesday took a 14-year-old boy to Columbus for lie detector tests on his story that an older brother shot and killed Frank Grause last month.

Sheriff Clyde Dericks said the 14-year-old later repudiated his story and that the older brother also denied any connection in the death.

Marine Boot Gives Version Of Slugging

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — A Marine recruit was called on today for details of a punch in the stomach he says brought on a hernia operation.

The closed hearing of charges by Pvt. Donald Hamisfar, 20, Norwalk, Ohio, contrasted with the much publicized trial of Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon last month in the drowning of six recruits on a night march near here.

Hamisfar was called to appear before his battalion commander and the unnamed supply corporal he says hit him in the stomach because he failed to use "sir" in asking a question.

Marine doctors said Hamisfar was born with the hernia and there was no evidence the condition had been aggravated by the alleged blow.

Hamisfar underwent a successful operation Aug. 28. He says he was hit Aug. 23. He had been on the base only two days.

The recruit was visited by his mother, Mrs. R. L. Hamisfar at the hospital last week. After she returned home she said Marines at the recruit training base here "are afraid to talk, afraid to tell you anything."

She said her boy got good treatment at the hospital but wanted to get out of the Marines, but did not know whether he would seek a discharge. Hamisfar said he has not made up his mind.

Negro Parents, Children View School Ouster

CLAY, Ky. (AP) — James Henry Gordon, 10, stood silent and expressionless, only shaking his head when asked by a reporter Tuesday how he felt about attending a Negro school.

The other three Negro children officially turned away from Clay consolidated school said they "liked" school at Rosenwald in nearby Providence.

James' mother, Mrs. James Gordon explained her son and daughter Theresa, 8, "didn't want to go back to Rosenwald."

"It's just like when you don't want to work for some company and quite your job, then you don't want to have to go and ask for your old job again."

Theresa smilingly replied "she liked it fine" after attending Rosenwald Monday and Tuesday.

After James walked away, Theresa "guessed" James didn't like going back to the all-Negro school.

Mrs. Gordon explained Theresa enjoyed school anywhere, although the mother felt she wasn't as happy at Rosenwald as at Clay. "Children tease them and say 'they didn't want you' at Clay and things like that."

Samuel Lee, 14, and Bobbie Carl, 12, sons of Mrs. Catherine Copeland, replied they "liked it all right" when asked about the Rosenwald school.

As they alighted from the school bus at their home on the outskirts of Clay, the boys seemed unconcerned about the school integration dispute which has burned in this western Kentucky mining area for more than two weeks.

At the small, neat home, Mrs. Gordon was resting when newsmen arrived. She came to the porch and explained her views in a quiet voice.

She attended Rosenwald through the 11th grade, she said. "When you know how hard a time you had in getting what education you could—and then didn't really have anything—" and the Supreme Court comes along and says you can send your children to a better school, what kind of a mother would you be if you sent them back to the same little crackerbox (referring to Rosenwald) and didn't try to give them something better?"

Her children showed no signs of emotional strain while attending the Clay school three days last week under National Guard and state police protection, she said.

They seemed to understand the situation, she said, explaining, "A child's mind is like a grown-up; sometimes they are more mature than you think."

Asked if she thought Clay might be ready to accept school integration next fall, Mrs. Gordon replied, "Not Clay, maybe never in Clay." She reaffirmed plans, however, to enroll her children at Clay next September.

Washington C.H. Stores Show Fall-Winter Lines

A sure sign that autumn is practically here again is the merchandise in the stores of Washington C. H.

For the youngsters, the summer vacation is over, baseball is drawing to a close, football is getting underway, there's a chill in the air, and soon the leaves will be turning yellow and red.

But even more important is the transition the stores have undergone. Whether it is for personal attire or for dressing up the home, the latest in style and material for fall is there.

Merchants have been getting ready for the coming of fall—and then winter—for months. They have gone to the merchandise buying centers and selected the things they know from long experience the people of this community need and like. They also have spent hours with salesmen, going over their samples and selecting the best for fall and winter for their stocks.

IN THE STORES are the latest in home appliances. Here, too, are just what is needed to brighten the home, from drapes to furniture and all of it the last word in modern style or period design.

The merchants tell their own stories in more detail in their advertisements in today's Record-Herald.

With these advertisements are pictures, stories and special articles from trade and fashion centers, telling what is tops in style and most practical for the months ahead.

Read these advertisements carefully, and you will have a better idea of what you need, what you want and what are the best buys for you.

Brinks Robber Hints He Was Goat in Deal

BOSTON (AP) — Star prosecution witness Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe indicated in testimony Tuesday that he turned informer against his alleged partners in the $121,900 Brink's robbery because he was cheated out of about $95,000 of his share of the loot.

He told the Superior Court jury that the loot was divided shortly after the Jan. 17, 1950, robbery, with each of 11 men receiving $100,000.

Because he expected to be picked up for questioning about the robbery, he said he entrusted to Joseph F. McGinnis, 52, a suitcase containing $100,000.

He said that when he regained possession of the suitcase from McGinnis, described by the prosecution as the "brains" of the robbery, it contained only $98,000.

He said he took $5,000 from the suitcase and turned over $93,000 to Adolph (Jazz) Maffie, another of those on trial. He said he never saw any part of the $93,000 again.

Others on trial are Michael V. Geagan, 47; Thomas F. Richard, 49; James I. Faherty, 45; Anthony Pino, 48; Vincent Costa, 42; and Henry Baker, 50.

Geer Indicted By Lancaster Grand Jury

LANCASTER (AP) — Dr. Joseph A. Geer, Fairfield County Coroner, today was indicted on a charge of falsification of narcotic prescriptions, as the grand jury completed an investigation of circumstances surrounding the deaths of two of Dr. Geer's wives.

The single indictment, containing 13 counts, was served immediately, Dr. Geer posted $2,500 bond and was released.

The report to Judge Harry Kilburger was silent on the jury's week-long investigation into the deaths of Mrs. Jeanne Geer of Jan. 14, 1954, and Mrs. Constance Geer last June 28.

The grand jury findings against Dr. Geer followed an investigation originally opened July 31 by Prosecutor E. Raymond Morehart and Police Chief Sam Hutsler.

On that date, Prosecutor Morehart received a report from the Ohio State University pathology department that Dr. Geer's second wife, Constance, 31, died of "codeine and pentobarbital intoxication."

The autopsy had been conducted at Dr. Geer's own request.

Indian from South America Faces Tests As 'Oldest Man'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A leathery little man with jet black hair was en route to New York today where scientists may determine if he is the world's oldest living human.

Juan Pereira, who stands 4 feet 4 and weighs only 75 pounds, arrived Tuesday night from his native Colombia en route to Cornell Medical Center. There he will undergo physical scientific and historic testing.

Estimates of his age range as high as 167 years, but the spry little Indian cannot read or write and does not know how old he is. He agrees, however, that the 167 figure is about right.

Dr. Jose Miguel Restrepo, an authority on human age, estimated Pereira at more than 120. An 86-year-old woman in Pereira's native village remembers him as being "an old man" when she was a child.

Doctors who examined him in San Vicente de Paul Hospital at Medellin, Colombia, reported that while his wrist joints and radial artery were those of an extremely old man, his blood circulation was that of a youngster. His heart action and blood pressure showed unusual vigor, they added.

Pereira, his interpreter, Flavio Correa, said, recalls events which happened in the days of Simon Bolivar, who died in 1830. Bolivar was a South American hero.

Pereira, according to Correa, "drinks when he can get it, smokes when he can and has outlived five wives."

Red Chieftain Asks Talks by Heads of State

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Bulganin said today the Soviet Union is ready to take part in a six-nation conference of heads of state in order to negotiate "a just and peaceful solution" of the Suez Canal crisis.

The six would be the United States, Britain, The Soviet Union, France, Egypt and India. International News Service, an American news agency, asked Bulganin if he would meet with the heads of those states and the premier replied in the affirmative.

Bulganin said such a conference could "undoubtedly" provide a solution to the Suez crisis which would preserve the sovereignty of Egypt as well as guaranteeing free passage through Suez for vessels of all nations.

Bulganin also said the Soviet government would have no objection to submitting any agreement reached by the conferees to the United Nations for ratification.

Bulganin said the Soviet government is ready to attend such a conference at any date and place convenient to the other powers. He suggested Geneva as a site.

Meanwhile in London, John Foster Dulles called on Egypt to accept his plan for a canal users association as the first step toward a peaceful and permanent solution to the crisis.

The U. S. secretary of state also suggested that the United Nations "might find it useful to invoke" the scheme while talks continued between Egypt and the world's leading maritime nations.

Dulles' speech took up a great part of the 80 minutes of the opening session of the 18-nation conference on Suez. His primary purpose was to convince skeptical smaller nations among the 18 that the users association idea, backed by the Western Big Three, was a good one.

After giving the details of his plan, Dulles told the delegates: "The extent of its practical utility will, of course, depend much, though not wholly, upon Egypt's attitude."

"BUT OUR readiness to cooperate with Egypt on a practical basis serves again to demonstrate our desire to leave no reasonable step untried in the search for a solution of the grave problem that confronts the world."

Egypt's President Nasser has already condemned the users association idea as tantamount to a declaration of war if implemented.

The proposal calls for establishment of a canal users' association to convoy members' shipping through the Middle East waterway. The association would employ its own pilots for the tricky 103-mile trip through the canal, and pay a fee to Egypt.

British newspapers were generally pessimistic about the chances of success of Dulles' (Please turn to page two)

Knowland Sees Possible War

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said here today any breakdown of law and order in Egypt endangering foreign lives "would necessitate prompt and effective military action regardless of the consequences."

But Knowland emphasized a belief that "neither American nor world opinion would justify Great Britain or France using military power" to force the passage of ships through the Suez Canal, which the Egyptian government has seized.

He said President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, with bipartisan support, are seeking peaceful settlement of the Suez problem by diplomatic negotiation "within the framework of maintaining peace with honor."

The Senate Republican leader voiced these views in excerpts from a foreign policy speech for the National Assn. of Retail Druggists meeting here.

School Skiing Eyed

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — They're serious about skiing in this Upper Peninsula city. School Supt. Hugh H. Holloway has proposed a high school building with a ski run from the roof.

School Board Prepares Brochure Explaining Expansion Needs

Explanations of the $645,000 building program and the 2.5-mill levy for the Washington C. H. schools, which are to be voted on at the Nov. 8 election, were prepared by the school board at its first monthly meeting since the opening of school after the summer vacation.

The board also adopted a resolution accepting the tax rates for the schools set by County Auditor Harry Allen on the basis of the budget approved by the Fayette County Budget Commission.

TWO THINGS were underscored in the explanations of the building program:

1. It is to provide elementary school classrooms for the increasing enrollment and 2. It is in no way related to the Miami Trace building program bond issue proposal.

The program includes: A new 15-classroom building at Elm and Willard Sts. to replace the present Eastside building;

New 8-classroom building in the Belle Aire subdivision in Sunny-side;

Two-classroom addition to Cherry Hill School;

Two-classroom addition to Rose Avenue School;

New boilers for the high school.

BROUGHT OUT during the preparation of the explanations were:

In 1940, when the last school was built, 925 children were enrolled in the first six grades and now there are 1,272 and a peak enrollment of 1,426 is expected by 1960. Approximately 150 children are now in emergency classrooms in Grace Methodist Church and the basement of the high school. Other emergency classrooms have been arranged in the Sunnyside and Rose Avenue schools.

The present Eastside building, which has been the target of criticism for several years, is to be sold at auction and the money used to buy equipment for the new buildings.

A site for the new building in Belle Aire has been offered, without cost, by G. Damon Baker.

NO PROVISION has been made in any of the new buildings for multi-purpose rooms in order to keep costs down, but plans for the two new buildings include folding partitions between two rooms so they may be thrown together for meetings.

Emergency elementary classrooms in the high school are needed to take care of increasing enrollment, which is 850 now and is expected to be 1,085 by 1960. This is larger than when tuition students attended the school.

Should a consolidation of city and county schools be effected, the present high school could be used for a junior high school (seventh, eighth and ninth grades) and a new senior high school building built for all the sophomores, juniors and seniors—the top three grades.

With the exception of some kindergarten pupils, bus transportation would be practically eliminated and children could attend the schools in their home districts.

Adequate sewer facilities are scheduled for the areas of the city in which the new buildings are to be built and Council has the authority to require sidewalks where needed.

IN ASKING a 2.5-mill levy, the board pointed out that it is needed principally to increase salaries. Supporting this position, it cited a 1955-56 average salary of $3,992 here compared with the state average of $4,673 for cities in Ohio and $4,217 for all districts in the state.

The per pupil operating cost of the Washington C. H. schools was given as $214.93 as compared with the state average of $249.02.

The Washington C. H. school tax rate of 12.90 mills compares with 15.70 mills for Circleville and Wilmington, 16.90 mills for Hillsboro and 15.40 for Greenfield. Only 12 of the 135 cities in Ohio, the board said, have lower school rates than Washington C. H.

The board also noted that additional teachers are needed to meet the needs of increasing enrollment. To secure and keep good teachers, the board contended, a better salary schedule is needed.

All this, and more, information about the schools and their needs, is to be assembled in a small brochure, complete with architects' drawings of the proposed new buildings, and made available to the public so they may have, as the board expressed it, "facts, not fancy," on which to base their decisions when they vote on the two proposals.

Marine Boot Gives Version Of Slugging

PARRIS ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — A Marine recruit was called on today for details of a punch in the stomach he says brought on a hernia operation.

The closed hearing of charges by Pvt. Donald Hamisfar, 20, Norwalk, Ohio, contrasted with the much publicized trial of Sgt. Matthew C. McKeon last month in the drowning of six recruits on a night march near here.

Hamisfar was called to appear before his battalion commander and the unnamed supply corporal he says hit him in the stomach because he failed to use "sir" in asking a question.

Marine doctors said Hamisfar was born with the hernia and there was no evidence the condition had been aggravated by the alleged blow.

Hamisfar underwent a successful operation Aug. 28. He says he was hit Aug. 23. He had been on the base only two days.

The recruit was visited by his mother, Mrs. R. L. Hamisfar at the hospital last week. After she returned home she said Marines at the recruit training base here "are afraid to talk, afraid to tell you anything."

She said her boy got good treatment at the hospital but wanted to get out of the Marines, but did not know whether he would seek a discharge. Hamisfar said he has not made up his mind.

Negro Parents, Children View School Ouster

CLAY, Ky. (AP) — James Henry Gordon, 10, stood silent and expressionless, only shaking his head when asked by a reporter Tuesday how he felt about attending a Negro school.

The other three Negro children officially turned away from Clay consolidated school said they "liked" school at Rosenwald in nearby Providence.

James' mother, Mrs. James Gordon explained her son and daughter, Theresa, 8, "didn't want to go back to Rosenwald."

"It's just like when you don't want to work for some company and quit your job, then you don't want to have to go and ask for your old job again."

Theresa smilingly replied "she liked it fine" after attending Rosenwald Monday and Tuesday.

After James walked away, Theresa "guessed" James didn't like going back to the all-Negro school.

Mrs. Gordon explained Theresa enjoyed school anywhere, although the mother felt she wasn't as happy at Rosenwald as at Clay. "Children tease them and say 'they didn't want you' at Clay and things like that."

Samuel Lee, 14, and Bobbie Carl, 12, sons of Mrs. Catherine Copeland, replied they "liked it all right" when asked about the Rosenwald school.

As they alighted from the school bus at their home on the outskirts of Clay, the boys seemed unconcerned about the school integration dispute which has burned in this western Kentucky mining area for more than two weeks.

At the small, neat home, Mrs. Gordon was resting when newsmen arrived. She came to the porch and explained her views in a quiet voice.

She attended Rosenwald through the 11th grade, she said. "When you know how hard a time you had in getting what education you could—and then didn't really have anything—" and the Supreme Court comes along and says you can send your children to a better school, what kind of a mother would you be if you sent them back to the same little crackerbox (referring to Rosenwald) and didn't try to give them something better?"

Her children showed no signs of emotional strain while attending the Clay school three days last week under National Guard and state police protection, she said.

They seemed to understand the situation, she said, explaining, "A child's mind is like a grown-up; sometimes they are more mature than you think."

Asked if she thought Clay might be ready to accept school integration next fall, Mrs. Gordon replied, "Not Clay, maybe never in Clay."

She reaffirmed plans, however, to enroll her children at Clay next September.

12-Hour Service Booked by Church

The Rev. Ed Bousman said he plans to continue the services for 12 hours starting at 7 a. m.

Washington C.H. Stores Show Fall-Winter Lines

A sure sign that autumn is practically here again is the merchandise in the stores of Washington C. H.

For the youngsters, the summer vacation is over, baseball is drawing to a close, football is getting underway, there's a chill in the air, and soon the leaves will be turning yellow and red.

But even more important is the transition the stores have undergone. Whether it is for personal attire or for dressing up the home, the latest in style and material for fall is there.

Merchants have been getting ready for the coming of fall—and then winter—for months. They have gone to the merchandise buying centers and selected the things they know from long experience the people of this community need and like. They also have spent hours with salesmen, going over their samples and selecting the best for fall and winter for their stocks.

IN THE STORES are the latest in home appliances. Here, too, are just what is needed to brighten the home, from drapes to furniture and all of it the last word in modern style or period design.

The merchants tell their own stories in more detail in their advertisements in today's Record-Herald.

With these advertisements are pictures, stories and special articles from trade and fashion centers, telling what is tops in style and most practical for the months ahead.

Read these advertisements carefully, and you will have a better idea of what you need, what you want and what are the best buys for you.

Brinks Robber Hints He Was Goat in Deal

BOSTON (AP) — Star prosecution witness Joseph J. (Specs) O'Keefe indicated in testimony Tuesday that he turned informer against his alleged partners in the $1,219,000 Brink's robbery because he was cheated out of about $95,000 of his share of the loot.

He told the Superior Court jury that the loot was divided shortly after the Jan. 17, 1950, robbery, with each of 11 men receiving $100,000.

Because he expected to be picked up for questioning about the robbery, he said he entrusted to Joseph F. McGinnis, 52, a suitcase containing $100,000.

He said that when he regained possession of the suitcase from McGinnis, described by the prosecution as the "brains" of the robbery, it contained only $98,000.

He said he took $5,000 from the suitcase and turned over $93,000 to Adolph (Jazz) Maffie, another of those on trial. He said he never saw any part of the $93,000 again.

Others on trial are Michael V. Geagan, 47; Thomas F. Richard, 49; James I. Faherty, 45; Anthony Pino, 48; Vincent Costa, 42; and Henry Baker, 50.

Geer Indicted By Lancaster Grand Jury

LANCASTER (AP) — Dr. Joseph A. Geer, Fairfield County Coroner, today was indicted on a charge of falsification of narcotic prescriptions, as the grand jury completed an investigation of circumstances surrounding the deaths of two of Dr. Geer's wives.

The single indictment, containing 13 counts, was served immediately. Dr. Geer posted $2,500 bond and was released.

The report to Judge Harry Kilburger was silent on the jury's week-long investigation into the deaths of Mrs. Jeanne Geer of Jan. 14, 1954, and Mrs. Constance Geer last June 28.

The grand jury findings against Dr. Geer followed an investigation originally opened July 31 by Prosecutor E. Raymond Morehart and Police Chief Sam Hutsler.

On that date, Prosecutor Morehart received a report from the Ohio State University pathology Department that Dr. Geer's second wife, Constance, 31, died of "co-diene and pentobarbital intoxication."

The autopsy had been conducted at Dr. Geer's own request.

Indian from South America Faces Tests As 'Oldest Man'

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A leathery little man with jet black hair was en route to New York today where scientists may determine if he is the world's oldest living human.

Juan Pereira, who stands 4 feet 4 inches and weighs only 75 pounds, arrived Tuesday night from his native Colombia en route to Cornell Medical Center. There he will undergo physical scientific and historic testing.

Estimates of his age range as high as 167 years, but the spry little Indian cannot read or write and does not know how old he is. He agrees, however, that the 167 figure is about right.

Dr. Jose Miguel Restrepo, an authority on human age, estimated Pereira at more than 120. An 86-year-old woman in Pereira's native village remembers him as being "an old man" when she was a child.

Doctors who examined him in San Vicente de Paul Hospital at Medellin, Colombia, reported that while his wrist joints and radial artery were those of an extremely old man, his blood circulation was that of a youngster. His heart action and blood pressure showed unusual vigor, they added.

Pereira, his interpreter, Flavio Correa, said, recalls events which happened in the days of Simon Bolivar, who died in 1830. Bolivar was a South American hero.

Pereira, according to Correa, "drinks when he can get it, smokes when he can and has outlived five wives."

Red Chieftain Asks Talks by Heads of State

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet Premier Bulganin said today the Soviet Union is ready to take part in a six-nation conference of heads of state in order to negotiate "a just and peaceful solution" of the Suez Canal crisis.

The six would be the United States, Britain, The Soviet Union, France, Egypt and India. International News Service, an American news agency, asked Bulganin if he would meet with the heads of those states and the premier replied in the affirmative.

Bulganin said such a conference could "undoubtedly" provide a solution to the Suez crisis which would preserve the sovereignty of Egypt as well as guaranteeing free passage through Suez for vessels of all nations.

Bulganin also said the Soviet government would have no objection to submitting any agreement reached by the conferees to the United Nations for ratification.

Bulganin said the Soviet government is ready to attend such a conference at any date and place convenient to the other powers. He suggested Geneva as a site.

Meanwhile in London, John Foster Dulles called on Egypt to accept his plan for a canal users association as the first step toward a peaceful and permanent solution to the crisis.

The U. S. secretary of state also suggested that the United Nations "might find it useful to invoke" the scheme while talks continued between Egypt and the world's leading maritime nations.

Dulles' speech took up a great part of the 80 minutes of the opening session of the 18-nation conference on Suez. His primary purpose was to convince skeptical smaller nations among the 18 that the users association idea, backed by the Western Big Three, was a good one.

After giving the details of his plan, Dulles told the delegates: "The extent of its practical utility will, of course, depend much, though not wholly, upon Egypt's attitude."

"BUT OUR readiness to cooperate with Egypt on a practical basis serves again to demonstrate our desire to leave no reasonable step untried in the search for a solution of the grave problem that confronts the world."

Egypt's President Nasser has already condemned the users association idea as tantamount to a declaration of war if implemented.

The proposal calls for establishment of a canal users' association to convoy members' shipping through the Middle East waterway. The association would employ its own pilots for the tricky 103-mile trip through the canal, and pay a fee to Egypt.

British newspapers were generally pessimistic about the chances of success of Dulles' (Please turn to page two)

Knowland Sees Possible War

CINCINNATI (AP) — Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) said here today any breakdown of law and order in Egypt endangering foreign lives "would necessitate prompt and effective military action regardless of the consequences."

But Knowland emphasized a belief that "neither American nor world opinion would justify Great Britain or France using military power" to force the passage of ships through the Suez Canal, which the Egyptian government has seized.

He said President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles, with bipartisan support, are seeking peaceful settlement of the Suez problem by diplomatic negotiation "within the framework of maintaining peace with honor."

The Senate Republican leader voiced these views in excerpts from a foreign policy speech for the National Assn. of Retail Druggists meeting here.

School Skiing Eyed

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — They're serious about skiing in this Upper Peninsula city. School Supt. Hugh H. Holloway has proposed a high school building with a ski run from the roof.

School Board Prepares Brochure Explaining Expansion Needs

Explanations of the $645,000 building program and the 2.5-mill levy for the Washington C. H. schools, which are to be voted on at the Nov. 8 election, were prepared by the school board at its first monthly meeting since the opening of school after the summer vacation.

The board also adopted a resolution accepting the tax rates for the schools set by County Auditor Harry Allen on the basis of the budget approved by the Fayette County Budget Commission.

TWO THINGS were underscored in the explanations of the building program:

1. It is to provide elementary school classrooms for the increasing enrollment and 2. It is in no way related to the Miami Trace building program bond issue proposal.

The program includes: A new 15-classroom building at Elm and Willard Sts. to replace the present Eastside building;

New 8-classroom building in the Belle Aire subdivision in Sunny-side;

Two-classroom addition to Cherry Hill School;

Two-classroom addition to Rose Avenue School;

New boilers for the high school.

BROUGHT OUT during the preparation of the explanations were: In 1940, when the last school was built, 925 children were enrolled in the first six grades and now there are 1,272 and a peak enrollment of 1,426 is expected by 1960. Approximately 150 children are now in emergency classrooms in Grace Methodist Church and the basement of the high school. Other emergency classrooms have been arranged in the Sunnyside and Rose Avenue schools.

The present Eastside building, which has been the target of criticism for several years, is to be sold at auction and the money used to buy equipment for the new buildings.

A site for the new building in Belle Aire has been offered, without cost, by G. Damon Baker.

NO PROVISION has been made in any of the new buildings for multi-purpose rooms in order to keep costs down, but plans for the two new buildings include folding partitions between two rooms so they may be thrown together for meetings.

Emergency elementary classrooms in the high school are needed to take care of increasing enrollment, which is 850 now and is expected to be 1,085 by 1960. This is larger than when tuition students attended the school.

Should a consolidation of city and county schools be effected, the present high school could be used for a junior high school (seventh, eighth and ninth grades) and a new senior high school building built for all the sophomores, juniors and seniors—the top three grades.

With the exception of some kindergarten pupils, bus transportation would be practically eliminated and children could attend the schools in their home districts.

Adequate sewer facilities are scheduled for the areas of the city

in which the new buildings are to be built and Council has the authority to require sidewalks where needed.

IN ASKING a 2.5-mill levy, the board pointed out that it is needed principally to increase salaries. Supporting this position, it cited a 1955-56 average salary of $3,992 here compared with the state average of $4,673 for cities in Ohio and $4,217 for all districts in the state.

The per pupil operating cost of the Washington C. H. schools was given as $214.93 as compared with the state average of $249.02.

The Washington C. H. school tax rate of 12.90 mills compares with 15.70 mills for Circleville and Wilmington, 16.90 mills for Hillsboro and 15.40 for Greenfield. Only 12 of the 135 cities in Ohio, the board said, have lower school rates than Washington C. H.

The board also noted that additional teachers are needed to meet the needs of increasing enrollment.

To secure and keep good teachers, the board contended, a better salary schedule is needed.

All this, and more, information about the schools and their needs, is to be assembled in a small brochure, complete with architects' drawings of the proposed new buildings, and made available to the public so they may have, as the board expressed it, "facts, not fancy," on which to base their decisions when they vote on the two proposals.

Farm Bureau Councils Hold Joint Session

Members of the Paint Township Farm Bureau Council were the guests of the Madison Mills Council at a potluck supper meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hidy, Madison Mills, Tuesday night.

After separate business meetings the groups joined in preliminary discussions of the subjects to be taken up at their next year's meetings. From a large list of discussion topics each member was asked to choose the 12, one for each monthly meeting, which interests him most.

Discussion leaders were Mrs. Herbert Evans of Paint Township, and Hidy, representing the Madison Mills group.

Preceding the discussion, the 25 members of both groups heard Mrs. Ethel Wilson, Madison Mills Council chairman, read the 21st Psalm, the Lord's Prayer and a selection from the writings of Russell H. Hoy, the "Country Parson."

Five resolutions were passed by the joint meeting. They concerned enforcement of the law on removing Canada thistle and John's grass from roadsides; an increase in the minimum fine for throwing refuse on the highways; blood tests for leptospirosis in swine; education for rural health and more research and education toward prevention of diseases communicable between animals and man.

Suez Talks Asked

Both said Dulles' declaration that the United States would not shoot its way through the Suez Canal undercut British policy.

Sir Robert Boothby, an outspoken Conservative member of Parliament who wields a strong influence, declared:

"What we want from the United States at this 11th hour is not a loan of oil but effective cooperation and a joint policy in the Middle East.

"Nasser was put into power by the Americans and sustained by a promise of a loan for the Aswan Dam. Then Dulles kicked him in the teeth by withdrawing the offer of a loan. Nasser struck back at the Suez. That is the immediate cause of the crisis."

DULLES HAS denied the association might organize a boycott of the canal. But he has offered to make loans available, through the Import-Export bank, to those nations that would be hit by the higher costs of shipping goods, especially oil, the long way around South Africa.

In Washington, the U. S. began setting up plans to ship from 500,000 to 1,100,000 additional barrels of oil daily to West Europe in the event Middle East oil supplies are interrupted.

Ousted Cleveland Aides Denies Rap

CLEVELAND (AP) — Joseph Finger, ousted acting secretary of the Cleveland Board of Plumbing Examiners, denied Tuesday that he had ever accepted or solicited a bribe. Bribery charges against Finger caused Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze to fire all three members of the board last week.

He specifically denied accepting $200 from Joseph Pucillo, a charge to be studied by the grand jury.

He also denied accepting $500 from Henry Ferrini, Pucillo's employer, who said he was working with police when he gave Finger the money to get "a license for a friend."

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police arrested a Pennsylvania man Tuesday night for questioning in the robbery of $50,000 in gems from a jewelry salesman.

Police said he told them the men bound his hands and feet with wire and gagged him.

On the subject of money, Stevenson told his conference that Democrats "must turn to the people for help."

"As everyone is aware," he said, "the Republicans have money to burn. We don't. Unlike the Republicans, we cannot count on a lot of very rich people to pay the staggering expense of carrying the Democratic message to the country."

THE REPUBLICANS moved on two fronts Tuesday to counter Democratic claims of a credit squeeze against small businesses and failure to help the textile industry.

Eisenhower called a Sept. 27 conference with business consultants of the Small Business Administration to discuss agency problems. SBA chief Wendell Barnes said after a conference with Eisenhower that anybody who says that loans are not available to small business is "inaccurate."

The President also was quoted as assuring Rep. Jonas (R-NC) that agreements with Japan soon will be made to limit textile imports from that country.

In Los Angeles, Secretary of Labor Mitchell told a United Steelworkers of America convention "the American workingman and woman has done better during the past three and a half years than ever before."

President George Meany of the AFL-CIO challenged the statement at a news conference. "I wouldn't say that was true," Meany said, "if the Republicans are responsible for this prosperity, then they also have to take the blame for 10 years of misery," he said was caused by the administration of President Hoover.

Farm Bureau Councils Hold Joint Session

Members of the Paint Township Farm Bureau Council were the guests of the Madison Mills Council at a potluck supper meeting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hidy, Madison Mills, Tuesday night.

After separate business meetings the groups joined in preliminary discussions of the subjects to be taken up at their next year's meetings. From a large list of discussion topics each member was asked to choose the 12, one for each monthly meeting, which interests him most.

Discussion leaders were Mrs. Herbert Evans of Paint Township, and Hidy, representing the Madison Mills group.

Preceding the discussion, the 25 members of both groups heard Mrs. Ethel Wilson, Madison Mills Council chairman, read the 21st Psalm, the Lord's Prayer and a selection from the writings of Russell H. Hoy, the "Country Parson."

Five resolutions were passed by the joint meeting. They concerned enforcement of the law on removing Canada Thistle and John's on Grass from roadsides; an increase in the minimum fine for throwing refuse on the highways; blood tests for lepto-spirosis in swine; education for rural health and more research and education toward prevention of diseases communicable between animals and man.

"The man ordered us to get into the family car after my son came downstairs. I drove and the German sat beside me. The youngster and my wife sat in the back.

"Then later I saw an MP jeep approaching us. I whipped my car across in front of it and stopped. As the German jumped out, pulling his pistol for the first time, I heard two shots."

It wasn't until later that he learned that as Walgenbach pulled his gun, Robert whipped the pistol from beneath his jacket and fired.

Police reported the man had died instantly.

Kuhel said German police had told him that no charges would be preferred against the boy.

Suez Talks Asked

proposal. The Conservative Daily Mail and Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express criticized American policy.

Both said Dulles' declaration that the United States would not shoot its way through the Suez Canal undercut British policy.

Sir Robert Boothby, an outspoken Conservative member of Parliament who wields a strong influence, declared:

"What we want from the United States at this 11th hour is not a loan or oil but effective cooperation and a joint policy in the Middle East.

"Nasser was put into power by the Americans and sustained by a promise of a loan for the Aswan Dam. Then Dulles kicked him in the teeth by withdrawing the offer of a loan. Nasser struck back at the Suez. That is the immediate cause of the crisis."

DULLES HAS denied the association might organize a boycott of the canal. But he has offered to make loans available, through the Import-Export bank, to those nations that would be hit by the higher costs of shipping goods, especially oil, the long way around South Africa.

In Washington, the U. S. began setting up plans to ship from 500,000 to 1,100,000 additional barrels of oil daily to West Europe in the event Middle East oil supplies are interrupted.

Ousted Cleveland Aides Denies Rap

CLEVELAND (AP)—Joseph Finger, ousted acting secretary of the Cleveland Board of Plumbing Examiners, denied Tuesday that he had ever accepted or solicited a bribe. Bribery charges against Finger caused Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze to fire all three members of the board last week.

He specifically denied accepting $200 from Joseph Pucillo, a charge to be studied by the grand jury.

He also denied accepting $500 from Henry Ferrini, Pucillo's employer, who said he was working with police when he gave Finger the money to get "a license for a friend."

1956 'Good Year' For Dems-DiSalle

DAYTON (AP)—Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic gubernatorial candidate, says "this looks like a better year than 1948 and maybe as good as 1936 as far as the Democratic Party in Ohio is concerned."

Man Questioned In Jewelry Theft

CINCINNATI (AP)—Police arrested a Pennsylvania man Tuesday night for questioning in the robbery of $50,000 in gems from a jewelry salesman.

Raymond Brisk, 58, salesman for a New York jewelry firm, told police two men, both masked, grabbed him when he entered his hotel room, and took the gems from his sample case.

Police said he told them the men bound his hands and feet with wire and gagged him.

Ike's Address

date named Joe Smith. The delegate, Terry Carpenter, was fighting for an "open" convention.

On the subject of money, Stevenson told his conference that Democrats "must turn to the people for help."

"As everyone is aware," he said, "the Republicans have money to burn. We don't. Unlike the Republicans, we cannot count on a lot of very rich people to pay the staggering expense of carrying the Democratic message to the country."

THE REPUBLICANS moved on two fronts Tuesday to counter Democratic claims of a credit squeeze against small businessmen and failure to help the textile industry.

Eisenhower called a Sept. 27 conference with business consultants of the Small Business Administration to discuss agency problems. SBA chief Wendell Barnes said after a conference with Eisenhower that anybody who says that loans are not available to small business is "inaccurate."

The President also was quoted as assuring Rep. Jonas (R-NC) that agreements with Japan soon will be made to limit textile imports from that country.

In Los Angeles, Secretary of Labor Mitchell told a United Steelworkers of America convention "the American workingman and woman has done better during the past three and a half years than ever before."

President George Meany of the AFL-CIO challenged the statement at a news conference. "I wouldn't say that was true," Meany said, "if the Republicans are responsible for this prosperity, then they also have to take the blame for 10 years of misery" he said was caused by the administration of President Hoover.

Slim To Full Styles Featured In Women's Coats This Autumn

Slim to semi-slim, semi-full to full is the range of silhouettes seen in fall coats. Fresh treatments revitalize the slender styles while a subtle handling of fullness sets new fashion trends.

Coat fabrics, too, are attractively varied. Tweed and worsted stand high in fashion's favor, while the luxury look of cashmere, velours, plushes, camelhair and rare hair mixtures continues important.

Fur-trimmed and fur-lined coats are having a big season. One delightful surprise is the return of the tuxedo coat with a cascade of natural lynx, mouton or other furs down the front.

Synthetic pile with a fur look and alpaca pile appear in both slim and full coats and coat linings.

THE SYNTHETIC pile coats have a new color story to tell, and are presented in such hues as sapphire blue, cafe au lait, platinum, mink-striped gray, beige, cognac and rich, deep browns. Pile in red, green, pink or blue lines many tweed coats and topers.

It's a colorful season for coats in general, with reds, blues, color-nubbed tweeds and plaids making a big splash. Black is strong here as elsewhere in fall fashion.

Style-wise, the cape and the hood, the pretty profile resulting from back or side detail and the empire effect are newsworthy, and double-breasted coats are making a big comeback.

Pretty variations on the slim and semi-slim line include a straight unfitted coat with double-breasted buttons and a slender, buttonless coat with shawl collar and empire-effect seaming. Other details for slim coats are low flapped pockets and pockets or seams in tiers.

Good for coats is the stand-away collar, modified for cold weather wear or designed to be worn with a scarf fill-in. Sleeve treatments feature dolmans, raglans and bracelet lengths.

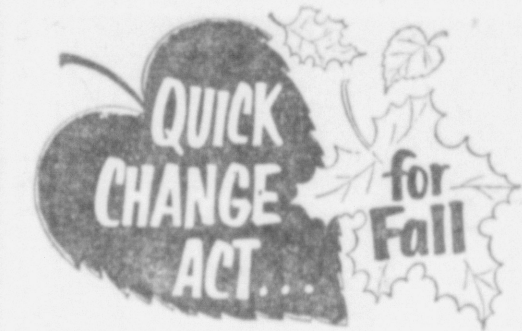

Wider shoulders for coats are achieved with arrow stitching, rounded cut and some padding.

CARACO EXPLAINED

What's the caraco? This fashion news-maker is a jacket, waist length or shorter. With or without sleeves, front or back buttoned or buttonless, it's still a caraco. For fall, it appears in partnership with dresses or as a separate jacket.

O'Neill Shows Concern about Our Highways

Our state of Ohio is moving forward rapidly. Its growth and expansion is being noted all across the country in industry, small business and agriculture, along with a fast increasing population.

This means a huge increase in use of our highways and Ohio has not kept step in this regard with our growth and increasing resources.

This situation was sharply pointed up by Attorney General C. William O'Neill in his talk in Washington C. H. recently at the Republican dinner when he asserted that "we have all had a part in this parade of progress, and each of us, and our children, should have a part in the future of better and more jobs, better and more opportunities, just plain better living. We all realize that future only if we solve the problems created by growth — only if we keep pace with the changing times. What Ohio needs is action and action now. We need less discussion, less delay, fewer programs, fewer promises. We need action."

In calling attention to the state's highway situation, along with other requirements which should have action, O'Neill, mentioned that three years ago the people voted $500,000,000 for better highways. This year Congress provided $1,400,000,000 for the interstate highway system in the next 13 years. Today we do not have one modernized highway running from north to south across Ohio; nor do we have one completed from east to west except for the Turnpike.

For many years Ohio has not had a well planned, long range highway construction program. We must break through the city traffic jams with expressways. We must build modern highways from east to west and north to south linking our centers of population and giving every community in Ohio the benefit of modern travel.

Atty. Gen. O'Neill also made it clear that this was not merely casual campaign talk and declared that if the people of Ohio gave him the opportunity as governor to bring about positive and early efforts to rectify the situation "I pledge to each of you immediate action now in planning, programming, acquisition of right of way and construction to give you a good road all the way wherever you go in Ohio."

Men Marry Younger Now

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Odd facts a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

That if lovelorn Leap Year maidens want to know the real reason for the shortage of marriageable men, the answer is—marriage. Some 51 per cent of men 20 to 24 years old are married now, compared to only 27 per cent in the same age brackets in 1940.

That Joe Louis won 10 of his 60 professional fights by any other knockout, more than any other heavyweight champion.

That the World Almanac has an article on how to make a will.

Its first recommendation is: see an attorney!

That the Hotel Roosevelt here has a special canine menu for guests who bring along their pooches. This will only annoy the alluraphiles (cat lovers) who complain no restaurant ever makes up a special menu for their pets.

That actor Gale Gordon, known for his fine diction and now a star on a TV comedy series, was born with a cleft palate.

That caves make a good refuge for hay fever victims since they are comparatively free of ragweed pollen. Lester B. Dill, owner of the cavern at Stanton, Mo., is offering free sleeping space in his five-story cave during the hay fever season to anyone who brings along his own cot.

That Johnny Longden, ex-coal miner who now has ridden more winning races than any other jockey in history, won only 38 of 287 starts in his first three years in the saddle.

That horses with Jockey Eddie Arcaro aboard have won more than $1 million in each of the last 10 years.

That a study of 211 coronary thrombosis victims of all ages showed one-third still alive 10 years after their first attack.

That the Kiwanis magazine observes, "The trouble with inferiority complexes is—the wrong people seem to get them."

That one out of every 10 working Americans still had to be on the job as usual on the Labor Day holiday—so the other 9 could play.

That one of the most common epidemic diseases of civilization is one you probably never heard named before—putomania, the morbid craving for wealth. It usually hits me about two days before payday.

That Mayor Edmund Orgill of Memphis wires music into his waiting room. He is reported to be the first burgomeister in the nation to employ this method to soothe angry taxpayers.

That it was O. Henry who said: "If men knew how women pass the time when they are alone, they'd never marry."

Three States Hold Senate Key

By George Sokolsky

The control of the United States Senate may hinge upon the results of the election in three states, Oregon, Washington and New York. The present line up in the Senate is 49 Democrats and 47 Republicans.

In Oregon and Washington the two Democrats, Wayne Morse and Warren Magnuson, are running for reelection. Should they be reelected, it will change nothing in the Senate.

In New York State, Herbert Lehman, Democrat, has retired. The contest is between Mayor Robert Wagner, Democrat, and Jacob Javits, Republican. Should Wagner be elected, it will produce no shift in Senate ratios. Should Javits be elected, it will count one up toward a Republican majority.

The three Republicans who are running in these states, Douglas McKay in Oregon, Gov. Arthur B. Langlie in Washington and Jacob Javits in New York, were particularly favored by President Eisenhower and are being supported by the Republican National Committee.

Douglas McKay was secretary of the interior. He has been made the scapegoat in what the Democrats call "The Eisenhower Give-Away Program," by which they mean an avoidance of excessive government ownership of land and properties interfering with private enterprise and the revenue of states from taxation. The conflict in Oregon could be over an issue, government enterprise versus state enterprise.

But into this situation has come the personality of Wayne Morse, a professorial type who had served on the National War Labor Board when Franklin D. Roosevelt was president, who came into the United States Senate as a Republican, became a turncoat in 1952 because he disliked Eisenhower and his associates and is now a Democrat, having the full support of Sen. Richard Neuberger whom Morse used to attack bitterly. It will take some doing to defeat Wayne Morse in Oregon who has organized labor and farm support.

In New York, the Democratic candidate is the mayor of New York City, Robert F. Wagner, the son of the late senator by the same name who authored the Wagner Act which organized labor has regarded as the charter of American labor. Robert Wagner has made a singularly competent mayor of the very complex

New York City and has gained for himself considerable national kudos. All factions of the Democratic Party favored him for senator; he is also the candidate of the Liberal Party and will have A.F.L.—C.I.O. endorsement. He is a Roman Catholic.

His Republican opponent, Jacob Javits, has been a member of Congress and is now attorney general of the state. The Democrats of New York, as products of the Roosevelt administration, are fully attuned to New Deal thinking; the Republicans are not intellectually so regimented. There still are many conservative Republicans, followers of Robert A. Taft. In some areas, such as Queens and Syracuse, Sen. Joe McCarthy continues to have an enormous following.

The Republicans can be said to be split between conservatives and liberals, but they all seemed to be united before San Francisco on the program that only the Eisenhower - Nixon ticket could carry New York State. Javits would be representative of the liberal wing of the party and all his recent difficulties with a Senate committee arose from the fact that the conservatives did not want him but had no other practical suggestion to make except Thomas E. Dewey who refused the nomination.

At the executive committee in Albany on Sept. 10, where the candidate was selected to be presented as the unanimous choice to the Republican state committee, eight out of 25 votes were anti - Javits, including Thomas Curran, chairman of the New York county committee and Mrs. Preston Davis also of that county in which Javits lives.

Javits in the past has had Liberal Party support; this support now goes to Wagner. But the Liberal Party is to a very large extent Jewish in membership and Javits is a Jew while Wagner is a Roman Catholic. Whether these religious affiliations matter will get you an argument. The election of Javits would mean one Democratic vote less in the Senate.

I have made no references to the fight in Washington between Gov. Arthur B. Langlie and Sen. Warren Magnuson because that situation has not yet taken on discussable form. In Connecticut, Rep. Thomas Dodd, a former FBI man and a very strong anti-Communist, is running against the Republican incumbent, Sen. Prescott Bush, an ardent Eisenhower supporter. Connecticut is so influenced by its Gov. A. B. Ribicoff, that there is no telling how his popularity will affect the senatorial election.

Two New Drugs Help Combat Alcoholism

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
Science has developed a new "keep sober" drug which literally makes the backsliding alcoholic blush all over.

It also makes things safely unpleasant for the drinker and reminds him of his indiscretion in a vivid manner.

Rehabilitation Program
It's called, Temposil. Doctors believe it may be an aid in keeping alcoholics on a rehabilitation program.

In a recent issue of the Canadian Medical Association Journal, Dr. J. K. W. Ferguson of Toronto tells what happens when a person who has taken Temposil also downs some alcohol.

He says the combination of alcohol and the drug produces "intense flushing of the face and neck and often the whole body, accompanied by a rapid pulse, a pounding heart and also panting respiration."

At this stage acetatedehyde can be tasted or smelled by the subject on his own breath. Sometimes nausea and vomiting follow. And in severe reactions, a precipitous fall in blood pressure may occur, particularly if the patient attempts to stand or sit up.

A severe reaction, Dr. Ferguson says, is a terrifying experience. I think you'll have to agree. But, he adds, the more dramatic symptoms usually subside within a few hours and the patient generally is none the worse after 24 hours.

Many other drugs now generally used to keep an ex-alcoholic on the wagon, may develop unpleasant side effects such as drowsiness, weakness, unpleasant taste, unpleasant breath, body odor or impotence whether or not alcohol is taken.

With this drug, Dr. Ferguson explains, he will experience relatively mild side effects—as long as he abstains. However, he cautions against "frivolous or unsupervised use" of the drug.

Another drug, Meratran, appears to eliminate the urge for excessive drinking of alcoholic beverages among some patients whose imbibing is associated with depression. It was used in tests in conjunction with psychotherapy work.

Science is trying hard to combat alcoholism.

Army Experts Seek To Curb 'Wound Shock'
ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—A possible lead towards developing a method of "conditioning" people against the potentially fatal "wound shock" that accompanies severe war and accident injuries was reported today.

Two Army researchers announced to the American Chemical Society that in laboratory tests, rats were made so shock-resistant that only 25 per cent succumbed to injuries which normally would be fatal to 75 per cent of them.

The rats were "conditioned" by giving them a series of electric shocks, similar to those given patients as a treatment in psychiatric hospitals. The shocks were administered once a day for several days.

Then, as a test of resistance to violent injury, the animals were subjected to terrific tumbling in a special whirling drum that was whirled 500 times, with the rats being dropped from the top to the bottom of the drum with each turn.

The Army scientists, in their report to the ACS's 130th annual meeting, stressed that "experiments are still not at the stage where application to humans is possible. Electric shock is not a procedure to be lightly applied to a normal person."

They implied they would seek less drastic means of possibly producing the same effect.

But they declared that the experiments with the animals do indicate the possibility of combating fatal shock from injury by altering the reactivity of part of the body's nervous system.

The report was prepared for delivery by Dr. Robert L. Griswold, of the Walter Reed Army Institute of Research, Washington, D.C. Co-author was Lt. Walter J. Decker.

AAUW Branch Holds Meeting Monday Evening

Monday evening at the home of the Branch president, Mrs. Colin Campbell, the Washington C. H. American Association of University Women had its first meeting of the year.

This infant Branch boasts a membership of 35, 21 of whom were present at the meeting.

The theme of the program was getting acquainted with A.A.U.W. This was accomplished through summaries of the standing committee chairmen, who gave brief talks, dealing with each particular phase of A.A.U.W. The standing committees and their chairmen are as follows: education — Mrs. McCoy Gardner, international relations — Mrs. Michael Harrison, social studies — Mrs. S. E. Buck, legislation — Mrs. Paul Craig, status of women — Mrs. John Case, fellowship — Mrs. William Lovell, and arts — Mrs. John Trace, Mrs. Howard Perrill spoke in the absence of Mrs. Paul Craig. With the scope of each topic being sufficient for years of study, everyone present realized that A.A.U.W. has no limits in quantity or variety of material with which to work. It presents a challenge to the university woman to utilize her knowledge and potentialities to the fullest. One point stressed in these talks was very aptly put by our Ohio Division president, Mrs. Wade Shurtleff, "Study without action is futile, action without study is fatal." This might be said to be the keynote of A.A.U.W.

During the business phase of the meeting, the regular meeting time was changed to the second Monday of the month at 8:00 p. m. The next meeting will be held with the Delta Kappa Gamma group who are sponsoring Mayhill Arbuthnot as guest speaker. The date for this meeting is October 22.

The meeting was adjourned and during the social hour following, refreshments were served.

Tweed Carpet Gaining Favor

Leading the carpet field for looks is a whole new crop of tweeds—new designs, old favorites in fresh colors, intriguing new textures.

The choice is now so wide that it is possible to create a decorating scheme with a carpet that looks woven-to-order, even though it is actually a machine-loomed product.

Colors put side-by-side in a tweed make decoration easy. One tone can be picked out of the two or three in the yarns and used for wall or draperies, and a room becomes automatically color coordinated.

For futures, if a move is necessary, the carpet moves, too, and a completely different color scheme is possible in a new location.

Tweeds as such were introduced a few years ago, and made news as a novelty. Their practicality in use has now made them the fall competitor with the solid-color carpet.

Add Extra Advantages

They serve the purpose of a quiet one-tone effect on the floor, but add their own special extras. Color can be introduced more boldly than in a solid color carpet, where any deviation from a neutral tends to dominate the room.

If there are doubts about decoration, a tweed carpet is a safe buy. This is particularly appreciated by the bride and new home-maker. And tweeds work magic with footmarks and soil, disguising signs of normal home activity until a convenient clean-up time.

New tweeds are made of a variety of yarns—wool, rayon, nylon, jute. With a history as a backing material, jute enters the carpet field as a surface fiber in a brand new line of tweeds.

Behind the scenes, much is happening to increase the serviceability of carpet. Weaving technicians have built more resiliency into construction, and laboratory scientists have created fibers that are easy to wipe clean.

While improving fibers, carpet manufacturers are using familiar yarns in new ways. For instance, there are many more versions of tufted wool. Another improvement is the construction of a broadloom twist that is non-directional—any piece matches with any other.

In addition to the tweeds and solids, a wealth of new patterned carpets continues to be available, featuring patterns that apply originality to both contemporary and traditional themes.

Maternity Clothes Have Empire Look

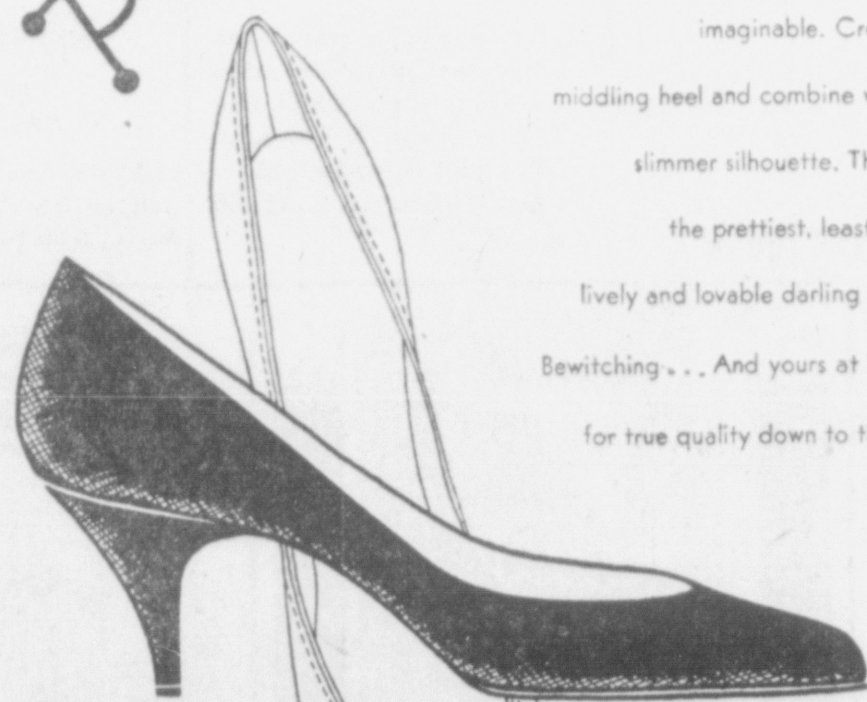

The empire look, so important this fall, is a special asset to maternity wear, since it makes a virtue of the necessity for top interest. Cuffed yoke bands and high-placed pleats are two variations of the empire in fashions for the mother-to-be.

Daytime maternity styles look casual, comfortable and pretty. Separates that can be matched or mixed are important, and appear in corduroy, tweed, jersey, flannel, gingham plaid and other fabrics. Bold patterns, extra pockets and tab effects contribute to the "top interest" look.

Fluid lines distinguish this modern bedroom, in mahogany ornamented with silver mist hardware. Night tables, dresser feature contoured drawer fronts. Headboard provides extra shelf, drawer space. By Johnson-Carper.

Grown-up styling of boys' all-weather coat features raglan sleeves, back vent, flap pockets. In Dan River's Dantwill, treated with Du Pont Zelan.

Dressy Casuals Good For Fall

Less casual, more versatile is the trend for casual dresses this season. Fashion-wise styling and fool-the-eye fabrics and knits make for casuals with a dressy air, appropriate to many occasions.

Slim lines and a high-waisted look are favored for casual as well as "dressy" dresses.

Cottons with a silky look and synthetics with a wool look are important, and so are jerseys that masquerade as tweed or crepe.

Supple is the word for fabric in this fall of beautifully detailed fashions. To the eye, fabric surfaces may look crisp, polished, brushed or velvety, but to the hand they feel richly pliable.

With the emphasis on materials than can be deftly manipulated into softly flowing lines, crepes of silk or wool and jerseys exert a strong influence, but diversity of fabrics is even more important.

Sheer woollens with smooth or ribbed surfaces, tweeds in everything from tissue weights to bulky-but-flexible homespun types, satin-back worsteds, pin-and-wide-wale corduroys, rustic silks, chiffon broadcloths, silk satins—the list is long and enticing, and the textures of the fabrics are as new and lovely as the styles they interpret.

Much of the excitement in the world of fall fabrics revolves around blends. The fashion-important brushed surface fabrics are most frequently the result of acetate and rayon combinations.

WOOL AND synthetics unite to create the chiffon-weight jerseys seen in dresses and blouses. Worsteds, slubbed with rabbit hair, takes on added texture interest.

A more luxurious appearance is the result of blending silk with wool, silk and cashmere, wool and cashmere or wool and fur. The addition of cotton to wool lightens and brightens the fabric, while retaining warmth.

Cotton and silk, a spring-summer favorite, shows new surfaces for fall—raised and textured, nubbed and rustic or crisp and closely woven.

Tweed news features both city and country weights. In the latter, novelty yarns are introduced to produce fluffy textures, striped or knitted effects. Crisp, tight-knit weaves are liked in both tweed and worsted.

Shiny, polished surfaces appear importantly in coat and suit fabrics. For coats, velours and plushes attract particular attention.

Joining the blend-trend, late-day fabrics such as satin, taffeta or rayon-acetate combinations show the glint of metallic threads or glow with gold or silver embroidery.

Other late-day favorites are velvet, brocade, lace, chiffon, peau de soie and silk or silk-synthetic satin.

Hoods Are on Top For Fun, Comfort

It's a hood—happy fall in fashion, with hoods appearing on everything from dressy chiffon and casual jersey blouses to poplin car coats and velvet evening coats.

On blouses and dresses, hoods are a fun fashion, while coat hoods serve a practical purpose as cold weather protectors. The latter are sometimes detachable.

In most instances, hoods convert to graceful cape or cowl collars. One mink-striped synthetic pile coat has a hood that folds back to form a V-shaped collar.

Dressier Trend In Sports Wear

Slacks Reflect
Ivy Influence

Sportswear for fall takes on a new "dress-up" look, in which comfort and fashion are happily combined. Spearheading this trend is the booming popularity of the suburban coat which the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear predicts will appear in more city and country wardrobes than ever before.

Bought mostly as an "extra" garment, the suburban coat will be worn on weekends and for automobile traveling; its short length (from 34 to 36 inches) makes it most practical for getting in and out of cars. Solid color fleeces and meltons, tweeds, plaids and fancy wools in a wide range of light to dark colors will be featured.

The model most widely worn will be the single-breasted four-button style with two flapped patch pockets, change pocket, side or center vents and quilt linings.

Also important in the sports outerwear picture will be the toggle or convey coat, in single or double breasted models, with chest stitching detail, in loden and other fabrics. Solid colors and subdued patterns in heather effects will be popular. Many of these coats come with attached or detachable hoods.

In sports coats, the natural shoulder model will predominate. Fabric interest will be centered in tweeds, shellands, donegals and herringbones. The three-button single-breasted model with change pocket and single vent is expected to be the most popular.

Big, bulky yarns will be the most important trend in sweaters, which will be seen in a wide range of models. One of the new styles is the cardigan with lower buttons only, giving a deep V-line.

Slacks will reflect with continuing Ivy influence in pleated, back buckle, slim leg styles. For the bigger man, a compromise model will be the pleated or single pleat front with regular or continuous waistbands.

The trend in fabrics will continue to be gray flannel, but with the heavier coverts, whipcords and sharkskins entering the picture in an important way.

The idea of ensembling sportswear will gather momentum for fall, partly because of the increased demand for the short peak, back buckle caps, which will be made in fabrics to match the suburban and toggle coats.

Stripes will be seen in every sportswear category for fall. These will be mostly vertical to make a man seem slimmer and taller. They will range from pin effects to big blazer ideas, and from sharp color contrasts to the more subdued medium tones.

Ivy League look, junior version, appears in striped cotton sheen raincoat, matching cap. Treated with Du Pont Zelan water and spot repellent.

More Corduroy and More Brown Featured in Clothes for Boys

More corduroy, more brown and more Ivy styling are set to go into boys' fall wardrobes.

Bold, bright stripes give newness to corduroy, while chino is another favored fabric. Wools, cottons and cotton sheens, synthetics and blends continue important.

Lighter and brighter colors in boyswear have replaced last year's charcoal tones, with brown the top favorite in shades of tan to cognac, coffee to true brown.

Red and black make an outstanding combination. Light to medium grays and blues and olive drab provide variety.

Ivy ideas for boys show up in three-button jackets, back-buckled pants, caps, blended stripes and careful tailoring. Tweeds have more surface interest and tend to be light with bright-colored flecks.

Coats and jackets are slimmer, with narrowed lapels. The Continental collar gets a big play, on everything from flannel shirts to toddler suits.

All plaids are popular, with glen plaids heading the list. Madras colors emerge as another favorite.

Probably the most universal boys' fashion is the three-quarter suburban coat. Its variations include pearl buttons, monotone tweeds, leather trimming, alpaca linings and collars, hoods and toggle fastenings.

Other good cover-ups include zip-lined and Chesterfield coats and reversible bomber jackets and surcoats with half-belts, fully elastic belts and four pockets.

Ski jackets are longer, and some go down to ear-coat length—usually about 36 inches. They're designed to fit neatly over tapered downhill ski pants and can double as coats when worn over slacks.

Leather trims everything, appearing on collars, buttons, pockets and sleeves. Knit turtlenecks and bulky rib-knit accents also rate high with the boys.

CLEANING UP

For kitchen cleaning jobs such as scrubbing and deodorizing the garbage pail, a plastic bathroom mop with disposable detergent pad is recommended.

Pseudo-gold, fresh water pearls and tiny rhinestones create a necklace, bracelet and earring set. By Trifari.

LININGS ARE LIVELY

Lively, colorful linings are liked for girls' coats. Plaid flannel and brightly-hued synthetic pile are two versions.

Fuller Skirts Favored for School Girls

A simple tale is unfolded to the grammar school set this fall: little girl styles for little girls. Fashion's slim lines give way to full skirts, and such favorites as the empire are modified with strictly small-girl styling.

Smocking, gathers, wide sashes, bows and puff sleeves are typical young touches, as are aprons and pinafores.

Girls' fashions resemble the adult picture in that the empire has top importance, but it's handled in a way that makes it particularly appropriate to the grammar school age group. Combining the high-waisted or princess lines creates new-looking and likable styles for girls.

Young fashions are equally influenced by Tyrolean and Ivy League looks. Calico, figure prints, long sleeves, flared cuffs and rickrack braid reflect the Tyrolean (also called Provincial or peasant) influence.

COSTUMES composed of separates that can be mixed or matched with other parts of a young lady's wardrobe are finding wide favor. Some examples are jumpers and dresses with detachable aprons, pinafores, or collars. A costume look, created by dresses with attached boleros, is also quite popular.

The car coat is fall's pet in the sports category, with the long coat reserved for dress wear.

Fur fabrics and tweeds—usually double-breasted with a back belt—are outstanding in the latter field, and the car coat may be seen in everything from poplin to wool, with fur-like collars and hoods lined in alpaca, fleece or quilted fabric.

Washable synthetics are widely used in girls' fall clothes and offer a two-way appeal of fashion and utility. Cotton knits, becoming and practical for the active child, are equally favored. Plaids and tweedy look cottons make frequent appearances.

PATTERNS ARE SMALL

Small-patterned tweeds are liked for fall suits and coats. Raised surface interest is characteristic of these tweeds.

Young fashions are equally influenced by Tyrolean and Ivy League looks. Calico, figure prints, long sleeves, flared cuffs and rickrack braid reflect the Tyrolean (also called Provincial or peasant) influence.

COSTUMES composed of separates that can be mixed or matched with other parts of a young lady's wardrobe are finding wide favor. Some examples are jumpers and dresses with caraco jackets and dresses with detachable aprons, pinafores, or collars. A costume look, created by dresses with attached boleros, is also quite popular.

The car coat is fall's pet in the sports category, with the long coat reserved for dress wear.

Fur fabrics and tweeds—usually double-breasted with a back belt—are outstanding in the latter field, and the car coat may be seen in everything from poplin to wool, with fur-like collars and hoods lined in alpaca, fleece or quilted fabric.

Washable synthetics are widely used in girls' fall clothes and offer a two-way appeal of fashion and utility. Cotton knits, becoming and practical for the active child, are equally favored. Plaids and tweedy-look cottons make frequent appearances.

PATTERNS ARE SMALL

Small-patterned tweeds are liked for fall suits and coats. Raised surface interest is characteristic of these tweeds.

Furniture in Many Designs

With new furniture in a variety of designs to please individual preferences, shoppers will find it especially easy this fall to bring practical comfort and beauty into the home. Designers and manufacturers have made a special effort to provide furnishings appropriate to every taste and need.

Design wise, the choice offered includes both American and European Provincial and modern, gracious interpretations of traditional styles, light and airy-looking contemporary pieces and transitional furniture that combines the advantages of modern and traditional.

Attention has been given to the furniture needs of both the new and "old" home. Complete furniture groupings simplify new home decorating problems, while groups or individual pieces to make an "old" home look new have been designed for convenient combination with furniture already in use. A favorite wood that is widely available in new furniture is mahogany — both solids and veneers. This is used for everything from 18th century to modern furniture.

IN MODERN, mahogany lends richness to the simple, clean-cut lines and is often finished in new ways. Names such as "Cherry Cordovan" and "Castilian" describe these new finishes. Walnut, fawn and gray finishes for mahogany are also popular.

The fruitwoods, always liked for the Provincials, now are employed for Early American pieces. Cherry, for instance, takes well to carving and adds a look of grace and luxury to Early American furniture.

News in furniture highlights the combination of more grace and elegance with ease and durability. Many pieces have a lighter look yet are actually more comfortable and sturdy.

One example is the use of a new material which makes it possible to thin down the depth of sofa and chair cushions, for a more attractive appearance, and yet retain maximum seating comfort.

Wood frames and bases for chairs have a light, sculptured look — less bulk along with firm and sturdy support.

Versatility is an important feature of virtually all new furniture. Cabinets and chests of drawers are designed for many combinations, in many areas of the home. For instance, a sideboard for the dining room can become a dresser for the bedroom.

Designed to complement the slim silhouette in men's suits is this chartoned soft felt hat with higher center crease crown and narrower brim; three - shaded band. By Adam.

A subtle box design lends smart distinction to this sport shirt in a blend of cotton and silk. The collar is slightly shorter and wider spread in line with the fall trend. Van Heusen.

Two Distinct Looks In Fall Sweaters

All the ingredients for a fashionable fall are supplied by new styles in separates, casual dresses, jackets and car coats. The '56 season finds the dyed-to-match trend going stronger than ever, with today's separates looking very much like two - piece dresses.

Mix-and-match - ability have long been advantages for separates, and with the current liking for matchmates in sweaters, blouses, shirts, jumpers and skirts, the first concern, naturally, is "What about mix-mates? How can I use separates to stretch my wardrobe?"

There's a happy answer. Separates, it's true, are so closely matched in color, trim and fabric that at first glance it seems difficult to find a way to change them about for more variety.

THE SOLUTION is supplied by designers who have planned the "mixing" in advance, presenting three and four part combinations of sweaters, jackets, skirts and blouses that are color - harmonized yet easily interchangeable.

Match - mating is developed through the use of identical fabrics, and/or identical colors, or by the use of trims—skirt - fabric trims on sweaters and blouses, sweater or blouse trims on skirts.

As for styles, sweaters and blouses, jumpers and casual dresses all like the slim empire look, developed by ribbing, bodice interest, high yokes or pockets, bands or bows.

Sweaters present two distinct looks, as the rugged and bulky styles vie with the soft and feminine. Bulky - look sweaters feature cable - stitch knits, with emphasis on a hand - knit look. Softened sweaters appear in fine-gauge knits and display shirt or blouse design touches.

The caraco top is a sportswear favorite, and combines with skirts and blouses for an ensemble effect. This little jacket generally is offered in fine gauge wools and is cropped at above-the-waist-line length.

THE IVY LOOK shows up in narrow - cut jackets and pants, in dark ground stripes and leather-trimmed separates.

Blouses, an exception to the rule

Teenagers' Wallets Are Practical too

Billfolds for teenagers offer both more fashion and more practicality this fall.

Since these important accessories are usually carried to school on top of books, teen wallets are attractively fashioned for a public life—most often in washable leathers and colorful plastics.

And since the billfold is practically a file cabinet for the teenager, manufacturers have designed this season's styles with expandable tabs, gussets, hidden pockets and zippers, to keep everything from cash to cosmetics in good order.

of closely - integrated separates, appear in distinctive and generally feminine designs, for wear with suits, skirts or jumpers.

Skirts may be slim, flared, full or pleated, but the newest - looking ones put the emphasis on back details. Pants vary from Bermuda shorts to tapered full-lengths.

Lace and velvet coordinates, featuring blouses or sweaters with pants or skirts, are liked for late day, and special interest is shown in late - day full skirts.

Fall Hosiery May Be Darker

Just-right colors and styles to complement new fashions is the theme of fall hosiery, with more emphasis on stockings as a true accessory for dressy or casual costumes.

Stocking colors are darker, but the dark shades have a lighter cast. There are many blends of brown and gray, as well as off-black and darker tones of blue, green or garnet.

Following the continued trend to brown, stockings show a variety of brown-influenced tones, from the palest oatmeal shades through taupe, spicy, copper, brick and deep brown shades.

The taupe stocking is a newcomer this fall. In addition to true taupe, there are many blends — rose, mauve, gray, brown or blackened mauve, all intended for color-coordination with leathers and fabrics of these tones.

Country and casual stockings are available in greater variety. Walking sheer stretch hose come in costume shades of blue, crimson, emerald, paprika, moss and gray. Country stockings in colorful cotton jacquard and casual stockings in tweed tones make their bow.

For dressy occasions, there are cobwebby, sheer sandalfoot or barely reinforced nylons in tones of smoky gray, brown, green, blue, a pinky red and garnet. Iridescent stockings are news for evening wear.

TO DECORATE

Flowers and other plants make one of the easiest and most attractive ways to decorate a home. Gaily blooming potted plants and graceful, leafy greenery in plastic or metal planters are right for every room. A box of herbs or parsley dresses up the kitchen and is practical, too. Planters and pots in many new designs are available.

Muted Patterns In Men's Clothes

Fabrics Lighter
Than Last Fall

A strong trend to medium shades in men's suits for fall and winter is dominating the current picture in clothing stores and departments, according to the American Institute of Men's and Boys' Wear. Suits are coming out of the "dressed dark" stage, and medium grays are particularly popular, followed by blue grays and mid-brown tones.

For the new season, these lighter tones are enhanced with neat, subdued patterns. Muted glen plaids, vertical stripings, small checks, geometric designs, herringbones and slack twists highlight clothiers' new fall stocks.

A newsworthy counterpoint to the basic trend to mid-tones is the resurgence of the dark blues, which until recently were pushed into the background by charcoal gray.

FABRICS are lighter in weight than in previous fall seasons, with medium weight worsteds and flannels, lightweight tweeds and a new colorful silk-wool blends sharing the spotlight.

As to style, the slim silhouette with trim, straight, natural lines continues in vogue, with its natural shoulders and narrow, high notch lapels.

The two-button single-breasted model will continue to hold top place, although the three button model is expected to move rapidly forward.

The double-breasted suit will become somewhat more important than in years. This latest version has narrower lapels, more natural shoulders, less overlay and trimmer lines than former double-breasted.

Topcoats and overcoats for fall have been trimmed down in keeping with the current trend to slimmer silhouettes in suits.

Sweaters take new fashion touches for fall—at left, the Italian collar pullover; right, the school-tie middie style. There's news, too, in the yarn, specially processed so that the sweaters can be washed without blocking and won't pill or fuzz. By Rosanna in Ban-Lon textured yarn.

Shoulders are softened and slightly sloped. The new length is a little shorter and should flatter the appearance of most men.

Dress shirts for fall are trending toward the conservative side, in keeping with the new spirit of simplicity and elegance in men's wear. The all-white shirt will become increasingly important, along with soft staple colors and quiet patterns.

HATS HAVE narrower brims and higher crowns, giving an overall smaller appearance. The new flat top shapes have captured the fancy of many men. The small Ivy League cap is a strong favorite for casual wear.

In the fall footwear picture the Continental influence has become "Americanized" and emerges in a slightly higher silhouette that makes for better fit. Lightweight, soft leathers, appear in a wide variety of finishes.

In neckwear, the "Ivy-League" trends in patterns and designs continue, with some modification. Neat executive type patterns are bowing into the style picture. Rep stripes will hold their strong perennial following.

Dressier concepts of styling, soft contrast colors and neat patterns give all types of sportswear a fresh look for fall.

New Gloves Are Colorful

"Wash as you please" leather gloves are on hand for all, putting elegance on a practical as well as fashionable basis. The gloves, called LaundryLeather, are washable either by hand or machine and come in glaze kid, cape or soft pigskin.

Color range of the gloves has been broadened to coordinate with autumn hues in coats and separates as well as shoes, bags and other accessories. Included are color families such as yellow brown, red brown, taupe, brilliant blue, clear red and slightly drabbed green.

As for length, the classic shortie is well represented, and the four-button pull-on shows a marked rise in popularity.

Novelty shortie and pull-on gloves display creative styling. Themes include new cuff treatments ranging from scalloped or buttoned-down two-inch cuffs to others cut in asymmetrical designs, shirred or flared to one side of the wrist.

Glove trims include tiny self-color or mother-of-pearl buttons arranged in stylized pattern at the wrist, leather tabs and inserts in contrasting tone and swirls or leather piping or silk cording curving over the back of the glove.

Bridal Gowns Have Luxury

Elegance keynotes fall bridal fashions, with the empire line as the outstanding silhouette in such luxurious fabrics as satin, brocade and lace.

There's a sculptured look for wedding gowns which are beautifully designed to accent simplicity of line by the use of opulent materials. Taffeta continues as a top favorite, with new interest in many types of laces.

The entire family of silks is important, and chiffon and nylon-tulle combinations are popular.

The empire line is especially interesting when combined with smooth princess fronts and dramatic back interest, achieved by generous sashes, pouff effects and tailored bows.

The dropped waistline, in a more modified manner, appears as a significant silhouette.

A covered-up look contributes to the formal elegance of many bridal fashions. Necklines are higher, ranging from scalloped bateau types to high tailored collars, and sleeves are longer.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

Teen Girls Favor Feminine Flats

Teen age girls and flats go together like fall and football, but that doesn't mean the flats have any resemblance to a uniform. This season, they're as different as geometry and home economics.

Much more feminine in appearance, the new flats are trimmed with contrasting toplines, stitching around the toes, flowers or buckles. Buffed leathers are favored, with many two-tone and two-texture combinations.

Heels are usually a half inch high and are often made of stacked leather.

Wallpapers Show Design Simplicity

New look on the face of today's wallpaper shows enriched simplicity. A contemporary approach to designs gives a sense of freedom and openness, with lightly sketched drawings widely spaced on light backgrounds.

Usually only two or three softly muted or pastel colors are used on one paper, with a bright accent color. Accent shades, too, may be muted, depending on the background color.

Black and white combinations continue popular, often sparked with gold or silver or gala hues such as flame, emerald, tangerine.

With the trend to elegant simplicity comes a return to tone-on-tone wallpapers that simulate damasks and satin stripe. Florals, too, have a feeling of elegance with gold and silver touches.

Wide spacing and contemporary "flat" design, rather than realistic shadings, constitute other new developments in floral wallpapers.

In textured papers the trend is toward fine or silk woven effects.

Business suits for fall are lighter two ways: lighter in weight and lighter in color. Suit at left is gray-green wool worsted with a faint tan stripe. It has natural shoulders and three-button front. At right is natural-look suit with new peak lapels. It is medium weight wool tweed, smooth-finished, with tan and green flecks on gray-green. Wool Bureau photo.

Junior Fashions Feature Sheath

Getting into a romantic mood for fall, trend - setting junior fashions borrow design inspiration from the styles of the 1910's. The result is seen in softened sheath dresses with a high-waisted look and attractively - detailed bodices.

The same influences carry over into junior separates, costumes that do double duty, suits and coats.

Slim but relaxed is the rule in daytime wearables, but as the day turns toward evening, more juniors turn to bell-skirted dresses. Straight skirts for late day take on fluid lines by the addition of full overskirts, sometimes with harem hems.

Going along with over - all trends, the slender silhouette for juniors gets new treatments. Most outstanding is blousing at the top of both one and two piece dresses and in costume jackets.

ONE SUCH approach to the two-piece dress employs a bloused top, called a "blouson," with attached hood and a separate skirt of the same checked wool fabric.

Hoods top off many a junior dress, coat, suit or jacket, especially when the fabric is wool. And when the fabric is silk chiffon, as in one dress with a "jeweled" hood, the junior who wears it can be sure her outfit will be a conversation piece.

In addition to blousing and bustline seaming or draping, top interest details include real and mock boleros, cowl necklines, bow and button treatments.

Derived from the high-waisted look are dresses cut without a waistline. Easy fullness falls from a fitted bustline and can be controlled by a belt. One major change from last season's fashions is the prevalence of leather belts on most junior dresses.

In costumes, double-breasted button treatments for jackets stand out. Waist-length and shorter jackets, caracos that button in back, longer semi-fitted jackets, weskits and stoles form partnerships with easy sheaths.

NEWLY important are casual dresses with feminine, romantic styling. Contrasting fabrics, used to create a shirt-skirt effect, provide another approach to styling for the one-piece casual.

Juniors like the knit look, too. Bulky knits appear on their own in coats, jackets, dresses, and are used as trims. A favored trim-treatment is the use of knitted yoke and long fitted sleeves for wool dresses.

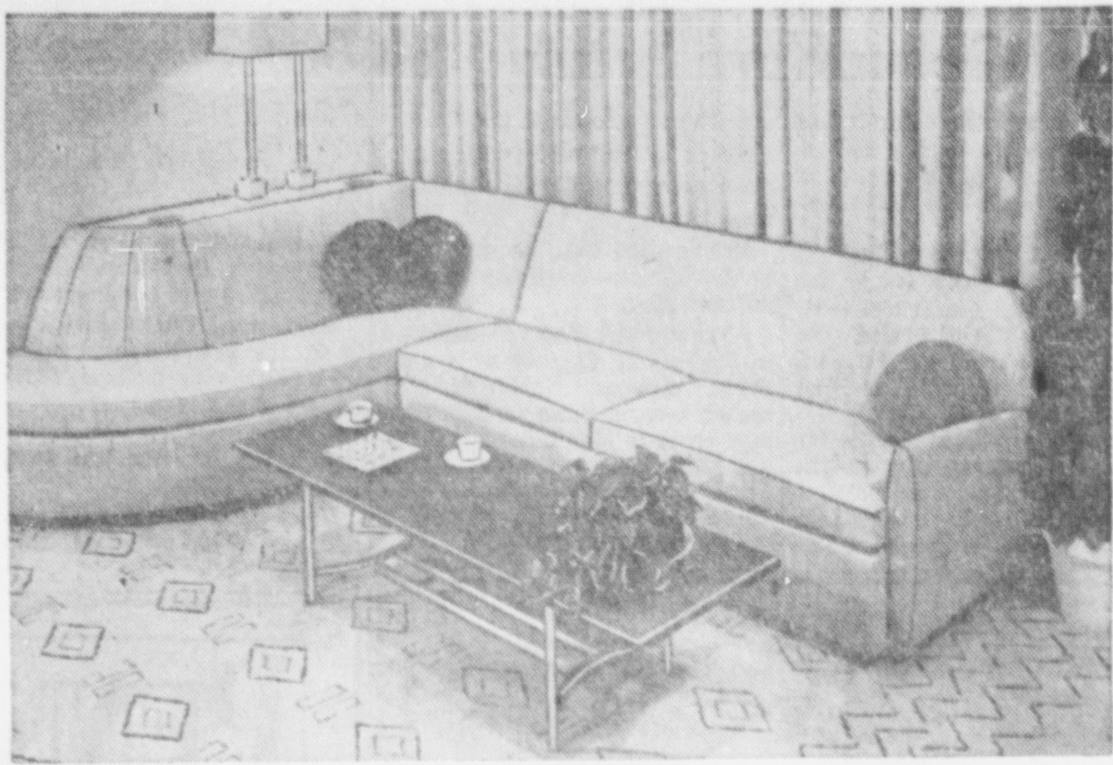

From dark to bright to light is the color story for juniors. Reds, greens, grays, black, beige to brown, pale and vivid blues and bold, brightly colored plaids are included.

Jersey in many textures, sheer wool and broadcloth and flannel make fabric news.

In British Togoland, on the west coast of Africa, polygamy is legal and some tribes have women chiefs.

Party dress for a subteen features the very new young look of an empire waist, defined by a velvet bow. The skirt is flatteringly bouffant. Festive and glamorous is the fabric, a blend of Avisco rayon, acetate and metallic yarn. By Gail Berk.

Grace and beauty, plus maximum seating in minimum space, are provided by sectionals. Curved section, left above, has built-in table behind it. Both sections are upholstered in tightly woven, lightly slubbed fabric. Coffee table with walnut Formica top, brass legs, completes the group. Furniture by Valley.

Family Room Solves Problems

With the 12-room house fast vanishing from the American scene, today's family has more leisure time to spend at home and less space to spend it in. Gone—or going—are the dining room, the extra guest room, and even the basement is often missing.

In answer to homemakers' demands, builders of new houses are giving attention to this problem, often by including a "family room"—like the old "back parlor"—as part of the kitchen or between kitchen and living room.

And home owners are going along with the trend by converting areas of their present homes to a room that all the family can share. A porch, basement, attic or breezeway may provide the space.

Suggestions for planning this all-important room are offered by the Pfaff Sewing Institute.

For Mother's activities—sewing, bridge luncheons, letter writing, budget planning—the family room should include a desk, compact sewing unit, built-in storage and book shelf space and a folding table and chairs.

DURING THE DAY day—particularly in cold or rainy weather—the children use the family room as their playground. Useful for storing toys is a window-seat box or low cabinet. Older children, who use the room for reading, watching television or entertaining their young guests, need adequate lighting and easy chairs. Here, too, Dad can keep his tools, work on his hobbies, read the newspaper or watch his favorite TV programs.

In the evening, the family room is often used for entertaining. Along with convenient tables and adequate seating space, the television set, a radio-phonograph or piano find themselves right at home in the all-purpose room. Family meals and buffet suppers can be served here, too.

FOR BONUS space-saving, the room should include a convertible sofa or studio couch for unexpected guests.

Since the room is used by both adults and children, Mother's choice of interior decoration for curtains, slipcovers and pillows should be in sturdy yet attractive fabrics.

Above all, the way the room is decorated and furnished should depend on the needs and activities of the family group. When well planned and organized, the family room becomes an ideal place to relax, to spend pleasant leisure hours or pursue a favorite hobby.

"If Wilson's Doesn't Have It - It Will Be Hard To Find"

Junior Fashions Feature Sheath

Getting into a romantic mood for fall, trend - setting junior fashions borrow design inspiration from the styles of the 1910's. The result is seen in softened sheath dresses with a high-waisted look and attractively - detailed bodices.

The same influences carry over into junior separates, costumes that do double duty, suits and coats.

Slim but relaxed is the rule in daytime wearables, but as the day turns toward evening, more juniors turn to bell - skirted dresses. Straight skirts for late day take on fluid lines by the addition of full overskirts, sometimes with harem hems.

Going along with over - all trends, the slender silhouette for juniors gets new treatments. Most outstanding is blousing at the top of both one and two piece dresses and in costume jackets.

ONE SUCH approach to the two-piece dress employs a bloused top, called a "blouson," with attached hood and a separate skirt of the same checked wool fabric.

Hoods top off many a junior dress, coat, suit or jacket, especially when the fabric is wool. And when the fabric is silk chiffon, as in one dress with a "jeweled" hood, the junior who wears it can be sure her outfit will be a conversation piece.

In addition to blousing and bustline seaming or draping, top interest details include real and mock boleros, cowl necklines, bow and button treatments.

Cardinals Act Like Ancient Gashouse Gang

Dodgers Stub Toe In Dash for 1956 National Loop Flag

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals, who hooked up with Brooklyn in those stirring pennant battles of the 1940s, have stolen a page from the past to leave the Dodgers with a skinny one-percentage-point edge in the National League race today.

The fourth-place Cardinals knocked off the Dodgers 6.5 Tuesday night on Ken Boyer's ninth-inning home run while second-place Milwaukee was rallying to defeat Pittsburgh 6-4.

At the same time the New York Yankees clinched the American League title by beating the Chicago White Sox 3-2. Mickey Mantle won it with an 11th-inning homer.

Cincinnati virtually was jarred out of the NL race by losing a two-night doubleheader to Philadelphia's "spoilers" 4-3 and 7-4. The New York Giants split a pair with Chicago's Cubs, winning 8-2 after a 4-2 defeat.

Cleveland reclaimed second place from Chicago in the American with a 1-0 and 6-0 two-night sweep against Washington. Kansas City trimmed Boston 6-5. Detroit defeated Baltimore 6-2.

The Cardinals blew a 4-0 lead before riding in on Boyer's second two-run homer. Gil Hodges' two-run homer in the seventh seemingly had given the Brooks a fourth straight victory.

Stan Musial, the Dodger killer of old, singled to open the ninth — ending a string of 17 consecutive batters put down by Roger Craig. Ed Roebuck and loser Carl Erskine after Musial's 25th home run in the third.

Johnny Logan's two-run single in the eighth won for the Braves, who blew a 3-0 lead when the Pirates chased Lew Burdette with two in the sixth for a 4-3 edge. Lou Sletner won in relief.

Curt Simmons' seven-hitter stopped the Redlegs in the opener, despite Wally Post's 30th and 31st homers that drove in three runs. Robin Roberts, winning his 18th, then handed Cincinnati a fourth straight loss, rolling along on a four-hit, 5-0 lead until the eighth when Ed Bailey's 27th home run knocked in three runs.

The Phillies, who knocked Milwaukee out of first place Saturday, swatted seven pitchers for 20 hits in the twin bill.

Bob Rush four-hit the Giants for his 13th victory in the first game, but Jackie Brandt then drove in five runs to beat the Cubs in the nightcap.

Mantle's two-out shot made him the eighth major leaguer ever to hit 50 home runs in one season but left him eight games shy of Babe Ruth's record 60 pace in 1927 with nine games to go. It broke up Billy Pierce's bid for a 21st victory.

Whitey Ford won his 19th, his best in the majors, but needed relief help from Bob Grim in the 11th. Yogi Berra's single tied it in the ninth. Mantle singled home the first Yank run. Walt Dropo and Larry Doby homered for the Sox runs.

Herb Score, backed by Jim Hegan's RBI double in the eighth inning, won his 18th with a four-hit, 14-strikeout job in the opener for the Tribe. Mike Garcia then three-hit Washington in the nightcap while Vic Wertz drove in three runs, two with his 30th homer.

Ray Boone's grand-slam homer gave the Tigers their 11th victory in the last 12 games.

A ninth-inning homer by Lou Skizas beat the Red Sox. Ted Williams had a home run, double and single in four trips.

Mantle Chalks Up His 50th Homer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle, now only a slim threat to Babe Ruth's 60 home run record, became the eighth major leaguer to hit 50 in one season Tuesday night nailing the 1956 American League championship for the New York Yankees with the wallop.

Rhonda Hanover Sets Trot Mark

DELAWARE (AP)—Rhonda Hanover trotted the second heat of the $9,065 Breeder's Fillies Stake here Tuesday in 2:05 for a new world record for her age, gait and sex. The previous record was 2:05.3.

Defense Drills Emphasized As Lions Prepare for Xenia

Defense drills were featured Tuesday as the Washington C. H. Lions prepared for Xenia Central's speedy and dangerous running attack at Xenia Friday night.

Head Coach Fred Domenico was not at all pleased, he said, with the way the defense looks. The squad will spend an extra half hour Wednesday to tighten it up.

"We can't make the same mistakes we made last Friday. This time we have to be better," said Domenico.

Booster Club To See Movies Of First Game

The Washington High School Booster Club will see films of the Blue Lions opening game with Linden McKinley in the Legion Hall at 8 p. m. Wednesday. Coach Fred Domenico will provide the commentary.

The Lions' head coach will explain some of the finer points of the game as the films are shown. The mistakes and the particularly good plays the boys made when they won the opener from the Panthers, 20-13, will be discussed in detail.

Domenico also will outline some of the things to look for in Friday's game with Xenia Central High School's Buccaneers. The Lions go on the road for this one.

While the highlight of Wednesday night's meeting will be the showing of the motion pictures, there also will be a report on the sales of programs at last Friday's game.

The Boosters took over the programs — both the preparation and sale — for the first time this season. Bill McLean, who heads the committee, will tell the club that the 500 printed were sold out before the game started. McLean believes 200 more could have been sold by the Boy Scouts, who are taking care of this phase of the enterprise.

THE PROGRAM project was undertaken by the club to help raise money to carry out its over-all program which includes, among other things, milk for the players of both teams after games here and the season — end banquet.

The member sign-up is now under a full head of steam, but until final reports are made, no membership figures will be available. Membership cards are available from any of the members and at several stores in the city. The dues are $2 a year.

There was considerable talk before the first meeting that the doors may be opened to the feminine contingent of loyal Lion fans. But, the idea was dropped after a short discussion; the principal reason was that if both men and women attended the weekly meetings there would be baby-sitting complications.

A women's auxiliary also was virtually ruled out as impractical.

Congress Hal Wins at Lebanon

LEBANON (AP)—Congress Hal grabbed two straight wins last night to take the two-dash featured pace for two-year-olds at Lebanon Raceway.

With Lou Huber Jr. of Cincinnati at the reins, the fleet brown colt had the first dash all the way, but in the second locked wheels with Red Coin at the start and trailed the pack at the first turn. But he turned on a sustained drive, nipping the pace-setter, Forecaster, by a half-length.

Third Cleveland Sulky Track Eyed

CLEVELAND (AP)—A Cleveland group is dickering to open the area's third harness race track.

It wants to buy Sportsman Park, Cleveland's leading auto-racing speedway for more than 20 years. Earl L. Clay, president of Bedford Sports Park, Inc., owner of Sportsman Park, would not identify the group that wants to convert Sportsman Park to a harness track.

Cardinals Act Like Ancient Gashouse Gang

Dodgers Stub Toe In Dash for 1956 National Loop Flag

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The St. Louis Cardinals, who hooked up with Brooklyn in those stirring pennant battles of the 1940s, have stolen a page from the past to leave the Dodgers with a skinny one-percentage-point edge in the National League race today.

The fourth-place Cardinals knocked off the Dodgers 6-5 Tuesday night on Ken Boyer's ninth-inning home run while second-place Milwaukee was rallying to defeat Pittsburgh 6-4.

At the same time the New York Yankees clinched the American League title by beating the Chicago White Sox 3-2. Mickey Mantle won it with an 11th-inning homer.

Cincinnati virtually was jarred out of the NL race by losing a two-night doubleheader to Philadelphia's "spoilers" 4-3 and 7-4.

The New York Giants split a pair with Chicago's Cubs, winning 8-2 after a 4-2 defeat.

Cleveland reclaimed second place from Chicago in the American with a 1-0 and 6-0 two-night sweep against Washington. Kansas City trimmed Boston 6-5. Detroit defeated Baltimore 6-2.

The Cardinals blew a 4-0 lead before riding in on Boyer's two-run homer, Gil Hodges' two-run homer in the seventh seemingly had given the Brooks a fourth straight victory.

Stan Musial, the Dodger killer of old, singled to open the ninth—ending a string of 17 consecutive batters put down by Roger Craig, Ed Roebuck and loser Carl Erskine after Musial's 25th home run in the third.

Johnny Logan's two-run single in the eighth won for the Braves, who blew a 3-0 lead when the Pirates chased Lew Burdette with two in the sixth for a 4-3 edge. Lou Slaughter won in relief.

Curt Simmons' seven-hitter stopped the Redlegs in the opener, despite Wally Post's 30th and 31st homers that drove in three runs. Robin Roberts, winning his 18th, then handed Cincinnati a fourth straight loss, rolling along on a four-hit, 5-0 lead until the eighth when Ed Bailey's 27th home run knocked in three runs.

The Phillies, who knocked Milwaukee out of first place Saturday, swatted seven pitchers for 20 hits in the twin bill.

Bob Rush four-hit the Giants for his 13th victory in the first game, but Jackie Brandt then drove in five runs to beat the Cubs in the nightcap.

Mantle's two-out shot made him the eighth major leaguer ever to hit 50 home runs in one season but left him eight games shy of Babe Ruth's record 60 games in 1927 with nine games to go. It broke up Billy Pierce's bid for a 21st victory.

Whitey Ford won his 19th, his best in the majors, but needed relief help from Bob Grim in the 11th. Yogi Berra's single tied it in the ninth. Mantle singled home the first Yank run. Walt Dropo and Larry Doby homered for the Sox runs.

Herb Score, backed by Jim Hegan's RBI double in the eighth inning, won his 18th with a four-hit, 14-strikeout job in the opener for the Tribe. Mike Garcia then three-hit Washington in the nightcap while Vic Wertz drove in three runs, two with his 30th homer.

Ray Boone's grand-slam homer gave the Tigers their 11th victory in the last 12 games.

A ninth-inning homer by Lou Skizas beat the Red Sox. Ted Williams had a home run, double and single in four trips.

Mantle Chalks Up His 50th Homer

NEW YORK (AP)—Mickey Mantle, now only a slim threat to Babe Ruth's 60 home run record, became the eighth major leaguer to hit 50 in one season Tuesday night nailing the 1956 American League championship for the New York Yankees with the wallop.

Rhonda Hanover Sets Trot Mark

DELAWARE (AP)—Rhonda Hanover trotted the second heat of the $9,065 Breeder's Fillies Stake here Tuesday in 2:05 for a new world record for her age, gait and sex. The previous record was 2:05.3.

Defense Drills Emphasized As Lions Prepare for Xenia

Defense drills were featured Tuesday as the Washington C. H. Lions prepared for Xenia Central's speedy and dangerous running attack at Xenia Friday night.

Head Coach Fred Domenico was not at all pleased, he said, with the way the defense looks. The squad will spend an extra half hour Wednesday to tighten it up.

"We can't make the same mistakes we made last Friday. This

Booster Club To See Movies Of First Game

The Washington High School Booster Club will see films of the Blue Lions opening game with Linden McKinley in the Legion Hall at 8 p. m. Wednesday. Coach Fred Domenico will provide the commentary.

The Lions' head coach will explain some of the finer points of the game as the films are shown. The mistakes and the particularly good plays the boys made when they won the opener from the Panthers, 20-13, will be discussed in detail.

Domenico also will outline some of the things to look for in Friday's game with Xenia Central High School's Buccaneers. The Lions go on the road for this one.

While the highlight of Wednesday night's meeting will be the showing of the motion pictures, there also will be a report on the sales of programs at last Friday's game.

The Boosters took over the programs—both the preparation and sale—for the first time this season. Bill McLean, who heads the committee, will tell the club that the 500 printed were sold out before the game started. McLean believes 200 more could have been sold by the Boy Scouts, who are taking care of this phase of the enterprise.

THE PROGRAM project was undertaken by the club to help raise money to carry out its over-all program which includes, among other things, milk for the players of both teams after games here and the season-end banquet.

The member sign-up is now under a full head of steam, but until final reports are made, no membership figures will be available. Membership cards are available from any of the members and at several stores in the city. The dues are $2 a year.

There was considerable talk before the first meeting that the doors may be opened to the feminine contingent of loyal Lion fans. But, the idea was dropped after a short discussion; the principal reason was that if both men and women attended the weekly meetings there would be baby-sitting complications.

A women's auxiliary also was virtually ruled out as impractical.

Sheriff Pushes Hunt For 2 Store Robbers

Sheriff Orland Hays today was planning his next step in the search for two "fairly well dressed young men" he wants to question about the disappearance about $600 in checks and $500 in cash from a drawer in the D. H. Gordon Store at Madison Mills Monday afternoon.

He was in Covington, Ky., Tuesday afternoon, following up a belief that the two men were from Kentucky, where he made a quiet investigation. However, he had no comments on what progress, if any, he had made.

Mrs. Gordon told him the money disappeared from the drawer in the counter while she was putting gasoline in the car outside. The men, she said, were alone in the store, ostensibly looking for the pop machine, while she was outside.

She said the men gave her a $20 bill to pay for the gasoline and drove rapidly away. She could not recall whether she gave them money.

The disappearance of the money was discovered, Mrs. Gordon told the sheriff, when her husband, who came to the store about the time the men left, went to the drawer to get money to pay for a gasoline delivery.

Father Connelly Guest Speaker At Rotary's Luncheon Meeting

A double shot of entertainment was provided for Rotarians and guests at the club's Tuesday luncheon at the Country Club with the Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly, of St. Colman's Church, as the featured speaker.

For the first half of his talk he played the part of a first-class comedian with a series of jokes and stories which kept his audience in a hilarious mood; he followed this with serious comment on an entirely different level which might well have been entitled "Faith in Our Time."

Michael Harrison of the September program committee presented the Catholic pastor who immediately launched into his line of stories and amusing anecdotes which ran the gamut from sports to church affiliations.

TOUCHING UPON serious problems of the present day, Fr. Connelly said that as we live in this so-called enlightened 20th century, people seem to be growing more

To offset and meet these evils, he said, people must have sincere faith in God and in themselves, because, no matter what men do to the world, God is still in His Heaven and will control whatever happens.

Elaborating on this thought the speaker said, "God permits science to make great progress so that people may live longer and easier than before. God also permits man to go up into the atmosphere and elements so many miles that they are almost shaking hands with the Creator; he allows deep sea divers to delve far into the bowels of the ocean. Then just as man begins to lose his faith in God and feels that he is self-sufficient to accomplish anything he wishes, realization of his real limitations are brought about by the Creator stepping in and teaching a lesson that results in such catastrophes as the plane crash in Grand Canyon, ships colliding at sea; also such as the end of life for such men as Hitler and Mussolini by suddenly bringing them down with a crash from their ivory towers."

THE SPEAKER recited many incidents and many cases in history to prove that men of all types have met strange fates by growing over-confident in following their own schemes and ideas. He also pointed out other cases in many lines of human endeavor where people achieved their ambitions through studious and consistent

Sheriff Orland Hays today was planning his next step in the search for two "fairly well dressed young men" he wants to question about the disappearance about $900 in checks and $500 in cash from a drawer in the D. H. Gordon Store at Madison Mills Monday afternoon.

He was in Covington, Ky., Tuesday afternoon, following up a belief that the two men were from Kentucky, where he made a quiet investigation. However, he had no comments on what progress, if any, he had made.

Mrs. Gordon told him the money disappeared from the drawer in the counter while she was putting gasoline in the car outside. The men, she said, were alone in the store, ostensibly looking for the pop machine, while she was outside.

She said the men gave her a $20 bill to pay for the gasoline and drove rapidly away. She could not recall whether she gave them change.

The disappearance of the money was discovered, Mrs. Gordon told the sheriff, when her husband, who came to the store about the time the men left, went to the drawer to get money to pay for a gasoline delivery.

Father Connelly Guest Speaker At Rotary's Luncheon Meeting

A double shot of entertainment was provided for Rotarians and guests at the club's Tuesday luncheon at the Country Club with the Rev. Fr. Richard J. Connelly, of St. Colman's Church, as the featured speaker.

For the first half of his talk he played the part of a first-class comedian with a series of jokes and stories which kept his audience in a hilarious mood; he followed this with serious comment on an entirely different level which might well have been entitled "Faith in Our Time."

Michael Harrison of the September program committee presented the Catholic pastor who immediately launched into his line of stories and amusing anecdotes which ran the gamut from sports to church affiliations.

TOUCHING UPON serious problems of the present day, Fr. Connelly said that as we live in this so-called enlightened 20th century, people seem to be growing more and more fearful about many things including atomic bombs, threats of war and communism.

To offset and meet these evils, he said, people must have sincere faith in God and in themselves, because, no matter what men do to the world, God is still in His Heaven and will control whatever happens.

Elaborating on this thought the speaker said, "God permits science to make great progress so that people may live longer and easier than before. God also permits man to go up into the atmosphere and elements so many miles that they are almost shaking hands with the Creator; he allows deep sea divers to delve far into the bowels of the ocean. Then just as man begins to lose his faith in God and feels that he is self-sufficient to accomplish anything he wishes, realization of his real limitations are brought about by the Creator stepping in and teaching a lesson that results in such catastrophes as the plane crash in Grand Canyon, ships colliding at sea; also such as the end of life for such men as Hitler and Mussolini by suddenly bringing them down with a crash from their ivory towers."

THE SPEAKER recited many incidents and many cases in history to prove that men of all types have met strange fates by growing over-confident in following their own schemes and ideas. He also pointed out other cases in many lines of human endeavor where people achieved their ambitions through studios and consistent
